

NEWS RELEASE

TechLaw Solutions Introduces Expanded Sales and Marketing Team

Chantilly, VA – October 25, 2007 – TechLaw Solutions is excited to introduce its sales and marketing team which has been expanding rapidly.

“The addition of these deeply experienced senior staff members will have significant impact on TechLaw’s national presence. Their presence will continue to increase our ability to better serve the ever-growing eDiscovery and litigation support needs of the legal community,” noted Mel Goldenberg, President of TechLaw Solutions. “Combined with our long-tenured existing sales team, TechLaw Solutions is well positioned to help organizations improve processes, mitigate risk and achieve their litigation preparedness goals.”

Staff additions include:

Christopher J. Anzivino, National Director of Sales. Chris has senior level management and sales experience in the litigation support industry with tier-one vendors. Based in South Florida, Chris is responsible for the continued growth of TechLaw’s eDiscovery and litigation support services to law firms and corporate legal departments.

Susan F. Rogers, Mid-Western Regional Director. Based in Chicago, Sue’s background includes nearly 24 years of hands-on experience in eDiscovery management with ALM Top 100 law firms. A former Manager of Litigation Support Systems at a large law firm, Sue has experience implementing document repositories and participating in the legally defensible collection and harvesting of eDiscovery data.

Jim Corcoran, North East Regional Director. Jim is based in New York and has significant experience in the legal market for e-Discovery services, publishing and software. Jim has repeatedly consulted with CIOs, CTOs, Litigators and Litigation Support professionals on a variety of matters and was responsible for the creation and development of litigation support departments at multiple firms.

Gary Frattalone, Mid-Atlantic Regional Director. Gary brings significant experience in consultative solution selling to Fortune 500 accounts and AmLaw 200 firms. Gary is based in New York and has received multiple honors and awards for outstanding professional achievement, including setting records in the e-Discovery field. Gary holds a BS in Marketing from Monmouth University.

Jay Stromberg, Director of Marketing and Business Development. Jay is an experienced marketing and communications professional with more than 15 years experience in the legal market. Jay began his career in the legal industry as paralegal in New York and has since held positions in product management, sales and marketing. He is a graduate of Binghamton University with a degree in English/Communications and will be based in TechLaw Solutions' Denver data hosting and processing office.

###

About TechLaw Solutions

TechLaw Solutions provides time-tested electronic and hardcopy document management services to law firms, corporate legal departments and government agencies for litigation, regulatory, and archival applications. TechLaw Solutions is a trusted discovery management partner serving Fortune 100, NLJ 250 and smaller companies as well since 1983. TechLaw's services include eDiscovery data collection, advanced electronic document processing, data hosting, accelerated content and native file review, foreign language capabilities and hard-copy information management. For more information, visit www.techlawsolutions.com or call 800-TechLaw.

Contacts

Jay Stromberg
Director of Marketing & Business Development
(303) 993-4183
jstromberg@techlawsolutions.com

Mel Goldenberg
President
(703) 818-3219
mgoldenberg@techlawsolutions.com