TechLaw Solutions Certified as Safe Harbor Compliant

Chantilly, VA – December 8, 2008 – TechLaw Solutions announced it has completed the steps required to meet safe harbor standards to assure privacy protection for data involving European Union nations.

As defined by the directive on data protection, TechLaw Solutions has established policies to certify data is properly handled. “With the continual increase in business activity crossing international borders, including more foreign language data, being safe harbor certified will enhance our ability to assist corporations and law firms in a wider variety of e-Discovery matters,” stated Mel Goldenberg, President of TechLaw Solutions. “This is a very important step to continue meeting our client’s present and future needs.”

The decision by U.S. organizations to enter the safe harbor is entirely voluntary. Organizations must comply with the seven safe harbor required principles, including notice, choice, onward transfer (transfers to third parties), access, security, data integrity and enforcement. More information on safe harbor is available at www.export.gov/safeharbor. Questions regarding TechLaw Solutions compliance should be directed to Rob Weissman at rweissman@techlawholdings.com.
