TechLaw Solutions Names John Olsson as Director, Discovery Solutions

Washington, DC – March 1, 2011 – TechLaw Solutions is pleased to announce that John Olsson, JD, has been selected for the role of Director, Discovery Solutions. In this capacity John will work with clients and prospects evaluating case needs from early stage legal hold and data assessment through processing, review and production.

“Incorporating John’s front-line knowledge of handling electronic discovery matters will provide significant benefit to our clients to ensure cost effective, productive, and defensible solutions to their e-Discovery and Litigation Support needs,” stated Mel Goldenberg, President of TechLaw Solutions.

John’s experience includes performing case and data assessment, supervising data collection, managing document review and production workflow, exploration of technical issues, shaping requests for data, and application of analytics. John has engaged in discussing project framework and establishing documentation processes. In addition John has experience with FCPA compliance audits and SEC investigations, privilege log preparation, and has a background in the growing contract attorney review space.

Working inside several AmLaw 100 firms as a litigator and electronic discovery project manager John has gained extremely valuable perspective to help clients address a wide variety of e-Discovery projects. John has been admitted to the Bars of New York, Pennsylvania & the District of Columbia, and several Federal District Courts. Most recently John was with Sullivan & Cromwell in New York.

In addition to developing new client relationships, John will serve as a liaison between the sales and operations team ensuring a smooth transition at the start of a project. John can be reached at jolsson@techlawsolutions.com or (800) 832-4529.
